JURY CALLED IN KIDNAPING

Special Panel Expected To Indict Pair in Niles Case Today.

"BRAINS" IN PLOT SOUGHT
Prosecutor Seeks Indictments Calling for Life Terms on Convictions.

By The Associated Press
WARREN, O., March 7.—A special panel of county grand jury went into session today to consider indictments against two men held as the kidnapers of 12-year-old James De Jute Jr. of Niles.

Prosecutor R. H. Birrell said he hoped to obtain indictments calling for life sentences upon conviction, but was uncertain what charges would be preferred until all the evidence was submitted. He said it was likely the jury would return indictments today.

Meanwhile a search was still under way for a third man suspected as the leader of the abduction plot. He was described as a former bootlegger.

The other two who said they were Powell Hargrave and John Demarco, were hiding with the boy when they were captured in a secret room of an abandoned gambling den near Youngstown.

Since young De Jute will not be 12 years old until June 17, 1932, the kidnapers would be sentenced to life terms if the state proves they demanded ransom. De Jute Sr., a wealthy contractor, has denied that money was asked for the child's return.

Hargrave's officers said, was one of two men who overpowered Jimmie near his home, Wednesday, and secreted him in the old gambling den and liquor storehouse. Demarco claimed they said, that he had just gone to the place to buy liquor.

Although one of the men was holding a revolver, the officers said, Jimmie did not hesitate to cry out "Here I am," when the searchers shouted his name.

Jimmie said the men did not mistreat him, but that all he had to eat was soft-boiled eggs and dark bread.

Jimmie planned to return to school today.

BRIAND, NOTED FRENCH PEACE APOSTLE, DIES

Death Closes Illustrious Career of Renowned Statesman; 69 Years Old.

HELPED TO OUTLAW WAR
Has Been Premier Dozen Times; Held Foreign Minister's Post at Death.

By The Associated Press
PARIS, March 7.—Aristide Briand, "Apostle of Peace," died at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon. "He died in a coma," said Dr. Marx, his personal physician, "after a stroke from which he did not regain consciousness."

The bent, shaggy-haired old statesman—69—had occupied the post of foreign minister in one cabinet after another for so long that he had made the office almost his own.

It was in that capacity that he participated in the Briand-Kellogg pact outlawing war as an instrument of national policy.

It was from that office that he played so important a part in the making of the Locarno pact that he became for all the world "the man of Locarno."

Conceived U. S. of Europe
It was as foreign minister that he conceived the idea of a "United States of Europe," a conception which although it never has taken concrete form, is still being considered by Europe's statesmen.

But it was not only as foreign minister that he made history for France. He was premier a dozen times.

Briand was co-author of the Kellogg-Briand pact outlawing war, a moving spirit in the Locarno treaties which guaranteed the neutrality of the frontiers of Germany, Belgium and France and in 1930 was the originator of a comprehensive scheme for an economic union of France.

He formulated the French policies connected with disarmament, always insisting upon safeguards for national security as a prerequisite to reduction in means of defense. At the same time he pleaded constantly for an united French and international will against war and distinguished sharply between defensive and aggressive conflicts.

Filled Many High Posts
In his own country he was 11 times premier, 16 times foreign minister, four times minister of the interior, three minister of justice, which carries with the office the vice-presidency of the French cabinet, and twice minister of education. All told he held posts in 25 cabinets and on March 14, 1931 celebrated a full quarter century of service in official life.

Only one gift, the presidency of the Council of Ministers, was his.

Drive To Get Hidden Funds in Service Launched by Hoover Appeal.

BROADCAST TO NATION
Tells People They Face Great Opportunity To Help End Depression.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, March 7.—The great, warlike offensive against hoarding swung into action today, signalled by President Hoover himself in a stirring appeal for a demonstration of the people's faith in their country.

At the "zero" hour, late last night, the Chief Executive faced a battery of microphones in the White House to tell his nationwide radio audience that it was time for every citizen to step out against the harmful economic forces that have hampered recovery, with releasing hoarded money, the big objective.

People's Opportunity
"The American people," said Mr. Hoover, have at this moment one of the greatest opportunities in their history to show an assured confidence and an active faith in their own destiny, which is the destiny of the United States, and by that faith we shall win this battle.

Supporting him were Colonel Frank Knox, the director of the anti hoarding (citizens) organization, who introduced the President from a microphone at his Chicago headquarters. Secretary Mills of the Treasury, Senator Joseph T. Robinson, leader of the Democrats and Charles G. Dawes, head of the Reconstruction corporation, also spoke.

Mr. Hoover gave his full endorsement to the drive.

WILLING TO CALL OFF POLICE, N. J. GOVERNOR SAYS

Ready To Take That Action If Requested by Lindbergh, but Can't Grant Immunity, Moore Tells Reporters.

POLICE VOICE BELIEF CHILD IS ALIVE
Have No Tangible Evidence, However, Governor Says; State Police Captain Says No Word Ever Received from Kidnapers.

By The Associated Press
TRENTON, N. J., March 7.—Governor A. Harry Moore told newspaper men today that he was powerless to grant immunity to the kidnapers of the Lindbergh baby but added that he would be willing to withdraw the police if Col. Charles A. Lindbergh should request it. The governor received reporters at their request in his chambers in the state house. The first question was whether he would promise immunity if Col. Lindbergh himself should ask it.

"I have no more authority than you to do that," he replied. "No one can give a pass to break the law. A law is a law. Only a grand jury, by refusing to indict, can grant immunity."

He further expressed the opinion that if the newspapers would "lay off" the authorities might "get somewhere."

"At first the publicity was wonderful," he said, "but now because of the many wild statements it is harmful. Personally I think if you all laid off for a couple of weeks we could get somewhere."

When it was suggested the "wild statements" might be directly attributable to discrepancies in information given out by police, the governor said: "No, it is the human equation that enters in."

The governor was asked whether there was any basis for the police belief that the baby was alive, expressed at Hopewell today by Capt. J. J. Lamb.

"We have no tangible evidence that the child is alive," he replied. "We are watching the case every minute and there are no new developments. We are cooperating with the Lindberghs all the time."

"My idea is to put every resource of state and nation in the case. The forces of the secret service are working throughout the country."

Governor Moore said he knew no reason for arrangements made by the Lindberghs to have Salvatore Spitalo and Irving Hitz act as underworld go-betweens.

He concluded the interview with the statement that he had seen no reason to believe that the kidnapers were any more left by the kidnapers. As to conflicting police reports concerning the existence of such a note he said he would speak to H. Norman Schwartzkopf, superintendent of state police.

No Contact with Kidnapers, Officer Says
HOPEWELL, N. J., March 7.—Captain J. J. Lamb of the state police announced today that no demand for ransom has ever been made for the kidnapped Lindbergh baby and that neither the Lindberghs nor the police have ever had any communication from the kidnapers.

This statement was in direct contradiction of information given out by investigating forces at the Lindbergh estate last week that a note had been pinned to the nursery window all demanding ransom and threatening harm to the baby if the text of the note was made public.

It was reported that this note demanded $50,000 for the baby's return but this was never officially confirmed.

Capt. Lamb made his announcement today at the morning press conference at which he replied to a long list of prepared questions.

The questions and answers follow:

Will the police say officially whether or not there was a demand for ransom in the note left by the kidnapers?

The family and police both deny there was a note left demanding ransom.

Will the police reveal the contents of the note?

Police know of no note or contents.

How much ransom was demanded?

Same answer as number one.

Naming of Spitalo, Hitz
Did any note instruct Colonel Lindbergh to announce Spitalo and Hitz as intermediaries four days after the kidnapping?

No.

What taken, if any, did the kidnapers leave to identify their later communications to Colonel Lindbergh from fake messages?

None.

Have the police or Colonel Lindbergh received any messages they believe are from the kidnapers?

No.

out yesterday, one of the few times they have enjoyed the sleets this winter.

Midwestern states which have been boasting of spring flowers, butterflies, snakes and other signs of spring-like weather, were in the grip of near to below zero temperatures, which threatened fruit snow, whipped by high winds, covered the highways in some parts and there was no immediate relief in sight.

Six Die in Storm

Near Atlantic City two coast guardsmen were hurled to death when a craft capsized in seeking the missing sloop Anna. Half a hundred other sailors went on the missing list as the storm smote vessels big and little.

The storm spelled death to at least six. A farmer stumbled in Georgia and drowned in the rain. A boy died in Florida as the blustering blast smashed his home.

Part of Florida's sponge fleet vanished. Four-hundred boats went down in the same locality. Candlelight flickered by Maryland firesides as power lines went dead. Frost whitened even the everglades.

Fort Smith, Canada, in the birthplace of blizzards, was awfully cold 40 below—and the shivers ran down into the United States. An airplane dropped food to snow-battered miners in Nevada.

The Rocky mountain region reported temperatures as low as 12 below zero.

Up in Williston, N. D., the mercury got down to 18 below. Louisville, Ky., reported the first snow of the season.

CHINESE FORCE JAPS TO TAKE DEFENSIVE

Each Side Blames Foe for New Skirmish; Peace Hopes Brighter.

By The Associated Press
SHANGHAI, March 7.—Japanese military officials said tonight 3,000 Chinese soldiers in the vicinity of Laho began an offensive against the Japanese positions there forcing them to take "defensive measures."

The Chinese on the other hand, said the Japanese continued to push westward from Nanjang along the Shanghai-Nanking rail way and also westward from Kiating.

Neutral observers said they believed considerable skirmishing was continuing along the present battle line but no general engagement had begun.

By The Associated Press
SHANGHAI, March 7.—Japanese authorities declared today their troops would be withdrawn from Shanghai as soon as it was made certain the Chinese army would not again enter the 12½ mile zone and the offer brought Chinese and Japanese peace-makers together again in a hopeful atmosphere.

The declaration stimulated hopes of softening the attitude of the Chinese government which rejected former peace proposals declaring the Chinese army would be evacuated except on withdrawal of the Japanese forces.

The indications were late this afternoon that the proposed round table conference of the neutral powers would be discarded in favor of a direct Sino-Japanese patty.

Prof. Snyder Sings.
Prof. Ellis F. Snyder of the Capital University conservatory of music at Columbus sang last night at Emmanuel's Lutheran church. He sang a group of 12 sacred numbers, among them compositions by Tchaikowsky, Kramer, Speaks and Ferrati. Miss Margaret Evans of the faculty of the conservatory of music, played the organ accompaniments.

phasus to impressing on his hearers the grave effect of keeping money out of normal channels.

"One hoarded dollar deprives some wage-earner of at least some part of his pay," he said. "Multiply this simple example by nearly a billion and a half dollars of idle money now hidden in the country and you may get somewhere near the true picture of the enemy of our national security that we vaguely call 'hoarding.' It strangles our daily life, increased unemployment and sorely affects our farmers."

Knox Outlines Campaign
In his introduction of the President, Knox told of the three weeks' intensive preparation by volunteer organizations in more than 1,700 communities for today's drive. He told of the "baby bonds" issued by the treasury solely to attract dollars now hidden, asserted the drive of his forces was in no sense a campaign to sell government bonds, and summed it up.

"We have organized a national employment agency to find jobs for idle dollars. We do not care what the job is so long as the dollar goes back to work."

170 ANSWER ALTAR CALL AT REVIVAL

Evangelistic Services Close at Calvary Church; 62 Respond on Last Day.

Sixty-two persons responded to the last altar call issued by Evangelist Edna Dougher Hughes yesterday at Calvary Evangelical church at the close of a two week evangelistic service. The total number who presented themselves at the altar during the meetings was 170.

Mrs. Hughes delivered three sermons yesterday. In the morning she took as her subject, "How To Backslide," from the text, Heb. 10:23, "Let us hold fast the profession of our faith without wavering."

She said in powerful things to have our sins put under the blood, but it is a more wonderful thing to keep saved. One thing is necessary to keep from backsliding and that is to grow. You cannot grow into grace or into an experience, but you grow after you get into grace.

One of the first things you might do if you want to backslide is to fall to get into a church. Another, is to neglect the services of the church. Some of the best ways to lose your blessedness and your experience, are to neglect prayer, prayer meeting, to neglect to give as you prosper, to neglect to pray and to neglect to walk in the light as he is in the light.

Prayer services will be conducted Wednesday at 7:30 p. m.

A paper on the life and compositions of Fannie Crosby, noted hymn writer, was presented by Mrs. William Weaver at a meeting Friday night of the Adult League of Oakland Evangelical church with Mrs. John Ritter of Cheney avenue. Mrs. Timothy Caldwell of the devotionals, Miss Esther Phelps sang solo and Mrs. J. E. Eggleston offered a prayer. Refreshments were served by a committee in a social hour. ## RECEIVE NO WORD FROM KIDNAPERS

No Contact Ever Made, State Chief of Police Says.

Do the state police or Colonel Lindbergh believe the baby is dead or alive?

We believe the baby is alive. Was Johannes Junge (husband of a seamstress in the home of Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow, Mrs. Lindbergh's mother) released after being questioned in Newark last night?

Yes. No Report About Bottle
Was the milk bottle found in Johnson's car the property of the Lindbergh baby? (Henry Johnson, friend of Junge and author of Betty Gow, the Lindbergh baby's nurse, was still being questioned in Newark today.)

I can't tell you anything about the milk bottle as investigators have not reported as yet. Will Johnson be released under bond or will he be detained further?

That depends on the outcome of his questioning. Has the report on the questioning of Johnson been received by the state police at the Lindbergh home?

No, not as yet. What are the orders to the state police if the kidnappers, after negotiating satisfactorily with Colonel Lindbergh, attempt to bring the baby to the Lindbergh home?

Do everything possible to help them deliver the child. Has Col. Lindbergh asked the state police not to interfere with the negotiations and the safe return of the baby to the house? Has any one made this request?

(A) Col. Lindbergh has made no such request. (B) No.

What is the basis for the disagreement between the police and Col. Lindbergh as to the method of procedure in this case?

There is absolutely no disagreement between Col. Lindbergh and the police.

Was the time at which the baby was put to bed on the night of the kidnapping his regular hour for going to bed?

Yes. Will you tell the movements of Betty Gow (the nurse) from the time she put the baby to bed until the kidnapping was discovered?

Her movements were the usual movements. Where Was Johnson Going?
Is it true that police are working on the tip that Johnson, when arrested, was on his way to Seco, Maine, where a relative of his, Mrs. Howard Pinkham, has a baby farm?

The investigators assigned to that angle of the case have not reported as yet. In accordance with procedure insisted on by police, reporters had to submit their questions in advance and were not allowed to ask for more definite answers than the police chose to give. For that reason several of today's answers failed entirely to clear up matters which are still a mystery. Typical of this was the answer as to Betty Gow's movements between the time she put the baby to bed and the time the kidnapping was discovered.

The police gave answers to all questions, but in many instances the answers didn't answer any thing. Are there any new clues on the ladder?

None. If the Lindbergh baby was ill why did Betty Gow leave it from 7:30 to 10 p. m.?

The baby was not very ill. It had a slight cold. When will Col. Lindbergh, Capt. Lamb, or some one in authority grant a personal interview to clear many discrepancies in the case?

There are no discrepancies given out from here. Did Col. Breckenridge (attorney and friend of Lindbergh) see Spitz last night?

Col. Breckenridge did not leave the house last night.

DEATH CLOSES LONG CAREER OF DIPLOMAT

Death Closes Illustrious Career of Renowned Statesman; 69 Years Old.

The French republic, was denied him by his fellow parliamentarians. Strangely that defeat came after one of his most dramatic triumphs, an endorsement by the chamber of deputies of his foreign policies after they had been under prolonged fire by the nationalist elements of his country.

The vote encouraged Briand's friends to put him forward as a presidential candidate in opposition to Paul Doumer, even though the election was only four days away. He reluctantly consented but on the first ballot, taken by the combined chamber and senate at Versailles on May 13, 1931, Doumer had a comfortable lead and Briand withdrew.

Native of Brittany
Aristide Pierre Henri Briand was born at Nantes, Brittany, May 28, 1862, of a Breton father and a Vendean mother. They were of peasant stock but had deserted the land to engage in retail commerce. During his childhood they took over a little saloon in the rough seaside town of St. Nazaire, well known in the United States as the first port of debarkation of the A. E. F.

It was there that three sons of tavern-keepers—Briand, Gustav Stresemann and Benito Mussolini—were the central figures in post-war European diplomacy for a considerable period, as foreign ministers of France, Germany and Italy. The combination was broken by the death of Stresemann and Briand's handing over his portfolio in 1929 to Dino Grandi.

Briand graduated in law and started political life by writing for an anarchist newspaper. He switched to less radical views, became associated with Jean Jaures, the socialist leader who was assassinated shortly after the outbreak of the world war in July, 1914, and espoused the cause of labor unions.

He broke with the socialists in March 1906 when he accepted the ministry of education and public worship in the bourgeois cabinet of Sarrien.

His star dimmed a bit after the war and he had some trouble in retaining his seat in parliament but, in January, 1921, saw him back in power as premier and minister of foreign affairs.

M. Briand was a bachelor and man of wealth. Often it was reported that he was about to marry and once, when his name was linked with that of a beautiful young French woman he made this characteristic denial.

"No young woman would want to marry me and I would not marry an old one."

OHIO COAL BOOSTED FOR FEDERAL USE

State Delegation in Congress Backs Move for Same Industry.

CLEVELAND, O., March 7.—The state delegation in Congress today appeared certain to back a move to boost the production of coal for federal use.

The delegation, which includes Representative William Emery Jr., vice president of the Cambridge Collieries company and leader in the movement, said:

"We contend that such places as the Dayton soldiers' home, the Chillicothe hospital and the Fort Hayes headquarters could use Ohio coal as successfully as any other kind, and cheaper."

Previously, Ohio coal operators have been excluded from bidding because of the restrictive specifications for the quality of the coal which precluded Ohio bituminous West Virginia coal has been imported into the state almost exclusively.

A committee of five headed by Congressman Arthur P. Lamneck of Columbus is now working in Washington to speed revision of the quality requirements in time to allow Ohio operators to bid on the new contracts to be let later this and next month.

SENATOR PREDICTS HOOVER REELECTION

By International News Service CLEVELAND, O., March 7.—President Hoover will be swept in to a second term on the crest of a wave of prosperity of his own making and with a modified stand on prohibition, says State Senator Joseph N. Ackerman, wet leader.

The administration's program of economic reconstruction, Ackerman pointed out, should be functioning at top speed in seven or eight months just before the election. Voters will fear a change in political control at such a crucial period and President Hoover will be overwhelmingly reelected, he reasoned.

Senator Ackerman stated he believed the party platform for November would contain a modified stand on the wet-dry issue, possibly a recommendation to submit the question to a referendum.

News and Hope at Last Second Lindbergh Statement A Week of Fear Power of Publicity

—BY ARTHUR BRISBANE—

A SEVERE STORM of wind, rain and snow swept the Hopewell countryside all day Sunday, with clouds black and lowering, trees shaking in the violent wind. But within the Lindbergh home, relief and real hope brought happiness for the first time. There was definite news at last.

What the message was that brought hope, or how it was delivered, had not been made known, but a second public statement, signed by Col. Lindbergh and his wife, made it clear that a message had been received.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT published and signed by Col. Lindbergh and his wife read:

"If the kidnapers of our child are unwilling to deal directly we fully authorize 'Sally' Spitalo and Irving Ritz to act as our go-betweens."

We will also follow any other method suggested by the kidnapers that we can be sure will bring the return of our child."

The men mentioned, Spitalo and Ritz, are well known to police and newspapers in New York because of their influence with the underworld and wide acquaintance among its members. Spitalo's first name is Salvatore. "Sally" is his nickname.

THE SELECTION, by name, of these two men as acceptable "go-betweens" by the Lindberghs, who presumably had never heard of them until now, indicates that the kidnapers have mapped out a definite plan for the child's return with payment of the ransom.

The sudden announcement and the definite names give every reason to hope that the little boy's return will not be long delayed, and that alone interests the public. News of the child's safe return will cause rejoicing in every home in America.

Spitalo and Ritz, in no way connected with the abduction, needless to say, will have the public's thanks for their help, no matter how the child's restitution may have been accomplished.

THERE IS NO DOUBT that wide publicity, however disagreeable in itself, has made the kidnapers anxious to be rid of the child, and rid of an undertaking of which they underestimated the danger. It is certain also that the first reassuring announcement by Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh, three days after the kidnapping, promising that no steps would be taken by them against the kidnapers if the child were safely returned, had an excellent effect, relieving the kidnapers of panic, that might have proved disastrous.

THE POWER of publicity, well used, was illustrated in a previous case, when a little girl, Marion Clark, was stolen from Central park, in New York, in 1899. The New York Evening Journal offered a cash reward, not for the kidnapers, but for any one sending information leading to the child's recovery. The return of the child were

"COCK OF THE AIR" WITH DOVE, MORRIS PLAYS OHIO THEATER

When the ace of women (Billie Dove) sets her heart on a crack army flyer (Chester Morris), who incidentally is ace of the army's playboys in Italy, she finds it necessary to lead him through many adventures to transform him from a playboy to a suitable husband. But it was done in the picture at the Ohio theater tonight, Tuesday and Wednesday night. The vehicle used by these two stars in their intriguing love play is "Cock of the Air."

Billie Dove is a popular actress and the idol of all army officers. Morris is the favorite of most women, and is, true to his title, "Cock of the Air."

They are together in Italy. "Fly me to Paris for a cocktail at the Ritz," she challenges him, when he promises to do "anything" for her. He makes good his promise, and in so doing helps her regain her popularity in that city as Joan of Arc on the stage. A comedy, short subject and a news reel complete the Ohio bill.

Joan Bennett gets her millionairess and a lot of unhappiness in her starring picture "She Wanted a Millionaire" which will close Tuesday night at the Marion. Joan is as charming as ever after a long illness which kept her from the screen. In this picture she is a poor girl who has to keep her family. Spencer Tracey, her railroad boy-friend sends her picture to a beauty contest and in the finals Joan wins the "Miss Universe" title and James Kirkwood, a millionaire. Her life abroad with him is a nightmare of jealous suspicions on his part. Tracey and her press agent for the beauty contest, droll Una Merkel, meet her in Paris and learn the true story. A rather fantastic series of events close the story, with Joan free of her husband. A comedy and newsreel are on the bill.

WANT TO LOOK YOUNG?

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look—your face—dull—eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They help bring about that natural buoyancy which a should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c, 30c, 60c—Adv.

"The March King" Gone.

John Philip Sousa, it is probable, died as he would have wished in the harness. Early last week he conducted a combined band and orchestra. Sunday morning, a few hours before a banquet given in his honor in Reading, Pennsylvania, he succumbed to a heart attack.

Sousa's years were many. He lacked but two of four score; his honors were many more. European trips in 1890, 1901 and 1903 and his globe-circling trip, 1919-1922, made him and his band famous internationally. There is not a civilized people the world around today that has not paid tribute to him; scarcely a government of consequence that has not conferred a decoration on him.

As may be taken from his title, "The March King," conferred on him by an English band journal and generally adopted, Sousa was best known as a composer of marches, marches which possess a swinging rhythm which differentiates them from the works of all other composers, but he was more than a composer of marching music. He was a composer of light and comic operas, many songs and cantatas and a writer of no mean ability, as a number of his works, to say nothing of his autobiographical, go to show.

Among his operatic works were "The Snugglers," "Dearest," "Queen of Hearts," "El Capitán," "The Little Elect," "The Charlatan," "The Free Lance" and "The American Maid." Of the more than 100 marches of his composition, "The Washington Post," "Liberty Bell," "Semper Paratus" and "The Stars and Stripes Forever" are the best known. Among his writings, "The Fifth String," "Pipetown Sandy," "Through the Years with Sousa" and "The Transit of Venus" are the most notable.

It is the practice of the world to erect monuments to the notables who have passed from it, but John Philip Sousa, in passing, left one behind him which will surpass any made of granite or bronze for the reason that it will be ever present the world over. This descendant of grandfathers who came to our shores as Portuguese refugees, who became a conductor of recognized merit at nineteen, the conductor of the American presentations of Gilbert and Sullivan operas at twenty-two, four years later the bandmaster of the United States Marine band, which he made renowned, and in 1892 organized Sousa's band which gained high fame the world over, left in his striking marches a composite monument to which the world will pay tribute long after the achievements of many to whom physical monuments have been erected will have passed from the memory of mankind.

The brilliant young Englishman, Aldous Huxley, defends "knocking on wood." He holds that superstitions are not compulsions or expressions of dangerous complexes, but are merely delightful appendages to living that make life gay, more exciting and amusing. In this light, the most of us may keep right on doing it without at times feeling foolish.

Alfonso denies that he had anything to do with the manifesto issued looking to a return of the Spanish monarchy and knew nothing of it till he read of it in the French papers. Let's be fair to Alfonso and admit that nothing in his past affords foundation for the thought he would propose such a movement in the manner in which it was put before the people of Spain.

A Tale of Expansion.

The public's memory is short, even shorter than its vision. Acts and attitudes of yesterday soon become unfamiliar history and cool retrospection may reveal unconscious courses of conduct leading to unexpected destinations.

State Auditor Tracy tells a story in figures about bonded indebtedness in this state. It starts with the conclusion, logically enough, since the conclusion is practically the entire story.

At the close of business December 31, 1930, every $13 worth of taxable property in Ohio had a mortgage of one dollar on it. The total bonded debt of the state and its various taxing units was approximately $1,017,000,000, against a tax duplicate of $13,877,719,000.

In 1909, which is as good a time as any to select as the beginning of the story, the bonded debt was $96,193,885 and the tax duplicate was $1,831,053,228. A ratio of debt to security of one to nineteen. In other words, while indebtedness increased by ten, security increased by only six.

It is not surprising that voters have been cool to proposals for additional bond issues. They sensed that the structure was getting lopsided, even though most of them probably were unable to back up their conclusions with figures. Auditor Tracy's story is startling confirmation of a prevalent suspicion.

There is another side, however, that should not be disregarded lest the public's attitude become as unbalanced as the state's financial structure is believed to be. Bonded indebtedness is, after all, the installment plan of buying applied to government. It is the method of financing public improvements. Ohio may reflect sadly that it has gone too far, but such reflection is incidental to the economic recession.

With care, everything can be made to come out all right. It is superfluous to add that the present attitude of voters is insurance that care will be taken.

Dr. Abraham A. Brill, the distinguished psychiatrist of New York City, expresses the belief that the kidnapper of the Lindbergh baby is not of the real criminal type, but a racketeer product of the war, prohibition and his environs of the last twelve years impelled to the view that the baby venture would pay better than bootlegging or racketeering. Whether the doctor be right or wrong, a good cure for what's ailing the kidnapper would be a somewhat prolonged immersion in boiling oil.

THE TREE THE WOODMAN SPARED!

Editorial Opinion.

POPULAR THROUGH ATTACK.

An English political writer expressed surprise a few weeks ago when the news came that President Hoover was certain to be re-nominated by the Republican party. Innocently, he explained that he had been given to understand that Mr. Hoover was "the most unpopular man in the United States." How could such a president go before the people again? Yet Americans in London had assured the commentator that presidents are always re-nominated, if they desire to be, so that he supposed the report must be true, although he possessed him of quite unable to understand the hysterical ways of American politics.

One of its ways is to help a public man by attacking him—intentionally and maliciously as to please him from a part of his temporary unpopularity. This has begun to happen in the case of Mr. Hoover. Even Democratic correspondents at Washington are taking note of the fact that his prospects seem distinctly brighter than at the beginning of the year. One reason for this is that he has been made the subject of indiscriminate partisan abuse. Take, for example, the long tirade which Senator Connally, of Texas, got off his chest in the senate on Monday. Ostensibly he was re-telling Senator Moses' charge of certain remarks which that irritating gentleman had made about Speaker Cather, also of Texas. But it was in substance a long arraignment of the President, holding him responsible for everything which has happened during his administration. The only reply vouchsafed to it by Senator Moses was that "there has been upon my devoted head for an hour and a half a storm of sound and fury which gives color to the prevalent belief that in the senate one speaks without limitation of time and with no relation to the subject before the house." He did not defend the President, for whom he disavowed any authority to speak.

Senator Moses might have alleged as more than one disinterested observer at Washington has asserted, that the Republican outlook is improving partly because the Democrats have offered no consistent program of their own and are putting forward no inspiring leader. Quite the other way, they seem to be engaged in killing off the leaders they have and casting about for a mediocrity. The more shrill and violent they are in their outcries against President Hoover, the better do they make his chances appear, compared with their own household. Better quarrels within their own household. New York Times, March 4, Democratic.

AMERICANS NOT UNGENEROUS.

One out of all the big English newspapers has gone to the extreme of expressing the opinion that the attitude of the United States in opposing cancellation of war debts is not beyond all reason. No, it is not. It is the attitude of the Manchester Guardian has to say on the subject.

"But the Americans are not at all ungenerous people. On the contrary, they are, when approached in the right way and for good reasons, witness the American relief funds after the war, perhaps the most generous people in the world. May it not be that their insistence that Europe shall pay her debts is based upon something more creditable than economic ignorance or national greed? Their assertion that if Europe can pay for armaments she can pay for debts, represents a moral, if not an economic truth."

This flicker of light, though not illuminating, may direct attention to an encouraging supposition that the people of the United States are generous, or at least not ungenerous, and can still lay claim to a sense of justice. We may be classed as human next.—Toledo Blade.

Children and Kidney Disorders.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

In the royal of the human, kidney disease is an ailment confined to the adult and to persons in middle life; yet children and even babies may suffer from Bright's disease.

Many times the kidney becomes involved during the course of one of the infectious diseases, notably scarlet fever and diphtheria, while measles, chicken pox and rubella may be accompanied by kidney complications. The person of the original disease is responsible for the involvement of the kidney.

Scarlet fever is particularly liable to be accompanied or followed by kidney trouble. This may happen even after very mild attacks of scarlet fever, and the time between the onset of the kidney trouble and the onset of the original disease may be several weeks or even months. The child's temperature rises and the urine becomes scanty and of high color. There may also be puffiness about the face or in severe cases, swelling of the ankles, headache or even convulsions.

These symptoms, although alarming, commonly disappear under suitable treatment, but the acute attacks may be followed by chronic Bright's disease if careful attention is not paid to building up the general health.

During any of the contagious diseases the bowels must be kept active by drinking sufficient water. The skin must be carefully protected from chilling, and light woolen or silk and wool underwear is advisable. The diet should be liquid and unrefined, consisting largely of milk.

If the kidney disease becomes chronic, there may be no symptom discernible to the parents excepting the anemias and loss of strength, but on examination of the urine, the cause of the failure in health is quickly discovered.

The treatment consists largely of a strict regulation of diet and avoidance of fatigue. Tonics may be ordered by the physician. When possible, outdoor life in a warm, dry climate is advisable.

The entrance of germs into the kidney is not uncommon in children. This may be the case in youngsters under two years of age. The most frequent cause of the disease is infection through the colon, because, which is an inhabitant of the intestine. Lack of cleanliness may permit the germs to enter the bladder and find their way upward to the kidney. It is very necessary to take great care as to cleanliness, especially in the case of diarrhoea.

A baby having fever without apparent cause needs the care of the doctor. The mother should see him. He will make an analysis of the urine, and this may reveal the cause of failing health.

The treatment must be prescribed by a physician. The usual precautions of an uninfected diet, avoiding chilling of the body, and maintaining normal action of the bowels, are necessary in all cases.

Soviet Propaganda.

BY EUGENE LYONS

Moscow, March 7.—U. S. doctors, like ordinary factory workers, must fight actively for the means of the Bolshevik revolution. If they do not, then they must be considered enemies, no matter how good they may be as physicians, or surgeons.

That is the practical moral of a play which will soon open at the Koteln theater here. "Doctor Ignorant," written by V. V. Shkvarik and directed by L. A. Volkov. This play is interesting as a typical example of theatrical propaganda.

Nothing in the new Soviet plays there is a conflict between the new and the old—the heroic young engineer and the villainous old-fashioned doctor, in the main. The play under consideration sticks to the pattern, except that the conflict is in the field of medicine.

Dr. Kuznetsov is the heroic young red physician, earnest and businesslike, whose work at the hospital is motivated by the desire to help fulfill the five-year plan. He is hampered by a bearded doctor of the old school, Dr. Sakharev, who despises all the Soviet laws, including the five-year plan. The laws of the proletarian hospital forbid the treatment of "class enemies." When a patient comes to ask for medical assistance, the doctor tells him to get out. The villainous doctor, being a low-down sentimentalist without proper class feelings, is terribly upset by what seems to him an inhuman attitude. He exhibits his villainy in other ways. For instance, he encourages workers to loaf on the job in the factory because he thinks they are working too hard anyhow.

The conflict reaches its climax when an important patient is rushed to the hospital. It is not the doctor of the old school, but the doctor of the new school, who is called in to treat the patient. The doctor of the old school, who despises all the Soviet laws, including the five-year plan, is called in to treat the patient. The doctor of the new school, who despises all the Soviet laws, including the five-year plan, is called in to treat the patient.

Colonel De Courcey.

BY J. H. GALBRAITH

One of the volunteer infantry regiments of the Civil War was under the command of a British army officer. It was the Sixteenth of V.I. and the commander was Colonel John De Courcey, the only colonel the organization had in three years.

De Courcey was forty years old when he assumed command of the Sixteenth and held a commission in the British army. He had seen distinguished service in the Crimean war, nine years before, and seems to have requested a furlough from his command in order that he might take part in the war among the states. In view of the benefit his experience might give him, his request was granted.

He was recognized by his men as a soldier of ability, and it was attributed to his knowledge of military matters in camp, that while the regiment was in camp, the men were comparatively few. He was under the command of General George W. Morgan, in his Cumberland gap movement by which that commanding position was taken, only to be evacuated later, followed by a disastrous retreat.

To De Courcey's strategy, the withdrawal of the Confederates from the key position there is credited. Getting his regiment above them, he marched and counter-marched it through passes where the enemy could catch a view of it, making the opposition believe a large army was about ready to pounce upon it.

At the expiration of his furlough, Colonel De Courcey returned an honorable discharge and returned to England.

Cook: "Oh, yes, ma'am. I always rolls me own cigarettes."

First Girl: "I don't see how you could engage yourself to that old Mr. Wiggs. He hasn't a tooth in his head and is pretty near bald."

Second Girl: "Well, my dear, you shouldn't be too severe on him; he was born that way."

John De Courcey, the only colonel the organization had in three years.

De Courcey was forty years old when he assumed command of the Sixteenth and held a commission in the British army. He had seen distinguished service in the Crimean war, nine years before, and seems to have requested a furlough from his command in order that he might take part in the war among the states. In view of the benefit his experience might give him, his request was granted.

He was recognized by his men as a soldier of ability, and it was attributed to his knowledge of military matters in camp, that while the regiment was in camp, the men were comparatively few. He was under the command of General George W. Morgan, in his Cumberland gap movement by which that commanding position was taken, only to be evacuated later, followed by a disastrous retreat.

To De Courcey's strategy, the withdrawal of the Confederates from the key position there is credited. Getting his regiment above them, he marched and counter-marched it through passes where the enemy could catch a view of it, making the opposition believe a large army was about ready to pounce upon it.

At the expiration of his furlough, Colonel De Courcey returned an honorable discharge and returned to England.

Harding Trips Columbus West in Tourney Clash, 29-1

BY BOB KIRKPATRICK

Practically all of the major league baseball teams have entered their spring training camps to prepare for the baseball campaigns which will get under way early in April.

Marion recreation baseball teams do not go through any prescribed course of spring conditioning, but just the same "spring training" for the horde of softball players here will officially start on Tuesday of this week.

The first softball games of the season here will not be played until early in May but the annual spring banquet of captains and managers is scheduled for tonight at the Y. M. C. A. and whenever that affair is held softball here is officially started here. From now until late next summer softball will be the major subject of the Marion sports world.

When the captains and managers of the 32 teams which competed in the four city leagues meet tonight they will elect four new members to the city softball commission which governs the game here. Earl T. Smart, Leo Keller, Don Howard and E. G. (Jap) to J. Siefert are slated to sing their swan song tonight, that is, unless they are re-elected for another term.

Four members of the commission go out of office each year. The members named to-night will be named for a three-year period. The time of the banquet is 6: p. m. If you were either captain or manager of a team last season, come to the Y tonight as a guest of the city commission. If you are interested in baseball but neither a captain or manager, come anyway. It will cost you only 25 cents. Besides a good dinner, there will be a hundred fans just waiting for a chance to start an argument on who is going to win the city softball title next summer.

Fans who attended the central district tournament basketball game between Delaware and Circleville Saturday are still trying to figure out a decision which resulted in a point being given to Circleville when it was intended for Delaware.

Here's how it happened. Circleville asked for a fourth time out, one more than allowed and technical foul was called. One of the officials carried the ball to the Circleville free throw line instead of to the Delaware stripe as he should have done and a Delaware player tossed it through the net. Scorers immediately noticed the error and called it attention to the officials.

While agreeing an error had been made, the officials ruled the point had gone through the Circleville basket and consequently was given to that team. Purcell, Circleville captain, was forthwith credited with the point. Coach Ervin Carlisle of Delaware continued the game under protest. Delaware eventually won out by three points. You figure it out. Should the point have gone to Delaware or Circleville?

PRESIDENTS WIN BY SECOND HALF RALLY

Red and Black To Meet Delaware in Semi-Finals Friday Night.

BY BOB KIRKPATRICK

Sports Editor, The Star

Harding High school's red and black court combine battled its way into the semi-final round of the central district class A district tournament Saturday night at Delaware by turning back Columbus West in an exciting battle, 29-19.

The Presidents will return to Delaware gym next Friday night for the semi-final clash. Delaware High school being slated to furnish the opposition.

It took the Men of Bohyer two periods of the game Saturday to find out they were playing basketball against an opponent that had no intention of giving in without considerable of a scrap. The West

Cowboys held the Marion five to a 12-13 score in the first half and if there was any advantage for either team, West must get the honors.

Cowboys Take Lead

The Cowboys took the lead in the first period of the game by dropping in a single pointer from the charity stripe and then added a second point with another free throw. Harding came to life at this point and dropped in a field goal to tie the count at 2-2 but promptly fell into the trailing position as West registered another free throw. The lead switched back and forth between the two combatants numerous times throughout the remainder of the first two periods.

Jack Ling, Harding center, who went out Friday night against Grandview, was held to a lone field goal in the first half as West employed an unusual bit of strategy to check the elongated Harding pivot man. Harold Wise, the West coach, elected to take a chance on leaving Junior Clay uncovered while two men were assigned the task of guarding Ling.

Plan Is Failing

The plan worked until Clay was removed in favor of Fred Vestal, a smaller but faster man. When Vestal entered the game Ling was left with only one opponent. With only one man to guard him, Ling was able to work his pivot position in usual form and although he garnered but eight points, he paved the way for a lot more.

West came back in the second half with a rush and racked up another two points to take a 15-13 lead almost before Harding knew the game was again in progress. And right there is where the game ended.

The Harding attack, which up to this time had been more or less of a failure, suddenly commenced to click and West was snowed under by a blizzard of field goals. Harding ran the count to 19-15 and West called time out in attempt to reorganize its defense but the effort proved a complete flop as the Presidents continued to drop in points with clock-like regularity.

After West took time out, Blecher tossed in a pair of fielders, and Ling and Vestal each contributed one to send the Harding advantage soaring to 25-15 at the third period ended.

Taken Defensive

Myers, West forward, flipped in a long range toss as the fourth quarter started to slash Harding's advantage to 25-18 but that was the last field goal the Cowboys were able to get during the game. Harding dropped its offensive tactics and resorted to defensive basketball most of the final period, practically all of the playing time.

Billie Hero, Harding's midcourt forward, was forced from the game in the second half via the four foul route. Seven of the 19 points scored by West came as a result of tosses from the free throw line. Harding committed 12 personal fouls to fight for the losers.

Lineups and summary

Harding: G. F. West, G. F. Hero, G. F. Myers, G. F. Ling, G. F. Morgan, G. F. Clay, G. F. Blecher, G. F. Stark, G. F. Landsey, G. F. Vestal, G. F. Plicker, G. F. Jones.

Totals: 13 8 5 12 4 29

West: G. F. West, G. F. Hero, G. F. Myers, G. F. Ling, G. F. Morgan, G. F. Clay, G. F. Blecher, G. F. Stark, G. F. Landsey, G. F. Vestal, G. F. Plicker, G. F. Jones.

Totals: 13 8 5 12 4 29

Referee: Burghalter (Hiddeberg); Jones (Rio Grande).

Connie Mack will stand pat on the lineup that won the pennant last season. The only outside prospect of a shakeup lies in the possibility of big Jimmie Fox being shifted to third and replaced at first by Oscar Roegner, now trying a come-back after a disintegrate after three straight years at the top of the American league, as many expected the Philadelphia Athletics now appear stronger than ever.

If anything is going to stop them from running up a record streak of four straight pennants it likely will have to be the old-fashioned law of averages. This factor, added and abetted by Grimes, Hallahan and Martin, accomplished the downfall of the Athletics last October, but it has damaged neither the class nor the morale of the club.

No Use Playing If You Haven't Chance To Win

WHAT'S the use of playing if you haven't a chance to win?

That was the general feeling among members of the Central Ohio Pocket Billiard league they decided last week to concede the championship of the circuit to Blanchard "Doggie" Drumm of Marion and not bother about playing out the remaining games of the schedule.

The Central Ohio league was formulated something like six weeks ago with Drumm and nine other contestants entered. The schedule was supposed to run 11 weeks. Some of the members of the league were reputed to be among the best out artists in this section of the state. That Drumm was "just one of the boys," a pretty good pool player but nothing to write home about, seemed to be the general consensus throughout the league.

It required only a short time for the rest of the contestants to discover they could take some lessons from Drumm when it came to maneuvering a pool cue.

"Doggie" has played 13 games now and has won 12 of them. Shaw, a Newark, O. man, beat Drumm once, but apparently is content to let well enough alone and not try again. Ike Chase, a former Marion man, now playing in Columbus stands second to Drumm with nine games won and four lost. And all are convinced they might as well let Drumm have the title so the league is no more.

Drumm is negotiating for a series of matches with Mike Sferro of Mansfield, winner of a similar championship in the Eastern Ohio Pocket Billiards league. It is expected that two matches will be played at the Recreation Billiard parlor here with two more at Mansfield and if necessary a fifth on a neutral table.

Rack up the balls, the first shot will be three cushions in the side pocket.

Big Ten Will Close Cage Play Tonight

Purdue Already Has Cinched Title; Ohio State Tackles Michigan Five.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, March 7. All the unfinished business in connection with the Western conference basketball season, will be cleared away tonight.

The Purdue Boilermakers wiped out any lingering doubts as to their right to the title Saturday night at Evansville where Northwestern was soundly beaten, 31 to 17. Purdue means Chicago tonight in the final of the season and should win easily.

Northwestern's schedule is finished with nine victories and three defeats. Minnesota may go into a tie with the Wildcats for second place tonight by taking its final encounter from Wisconsin at Madison.

Michigan, by winning over Ohio State, and in the event Minnesota is beaten, could gain a tie for third place while Illinois needs another victory over Indiana, to remain about the 500 mark. Should the Illini win and Michigan lose, they would finish in a tie for fourth position.

Johnny Wooden, Purdue's sensational guard, the scoring leadership of the big ten safely his, tonight will have an opportunity of equaling or bettering the Big Ten record of 147 points set by Branch McCracken of Indiana in 1930.

BATTALINO SLATED TO MEET PETROLLE

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 7.—Two powerful punchers, Christopher (Bat) Battalino of Hartford, Conn., and Billy Petrolle, of Fargo, N. D., collide at Madison Square Garden Friday night in the week's outstanding boxing duel.

As featherweight champion, Battalino never was noted as a great puncher but the 10 pounds he has put on the last few months apparently have double his hitting efficiency.

In his two matches among the lightweights, Battalino knocked out Al Singer and Billy Shaw in two rounds apiece.

PROSPECTS BRIGHTEN

WEST PALM BEACH.—Prospects are looking brighter in the St. Louis Browns' spring training camp. Goose Goslin, although still unsigned, has arrived and apparently is ready for another season in the outfield. Benny Bengough, catcher, is on his way to camp. Nothing has been heard from pitchers Rip Collins and Walter Stewart.

Virgil Licht and Brad Robinson, current stars on the University of Minnesota basketball team, also co-starred in high school at Baraboo, Wis.

LOCAL TEAMS LOSE IN CLASS B GAMES

Caledonia, Morrai, Waldo, Cardington, Marengo All Beaten in Westerville Tourney.

BY WALTER VIRTUE

MT. GILEAD, March 7. All Marion and Morrow county cage teams participating in the Class B district tournament at the Westerville Saturday were eliminated in either the first or second round. Caledonia after winning easily 19 to 27, from Monroe (the away county) in the afternoon at 4 o'clock went down to defeat 27 to 21 at the hands of Lancaster at Mary's the defending champions, who are the favorites to cop the district title again this year. The Caledonia-St. Mary's game was the last of the second round games Saturday night and was the best game played during the first two rounds.

The Haas brothers, who are the Marion county stars, lost decisively while Harz and Schaefer were the leading scorers.

Morrai lost to Pickaway in the first round 34 to 15. W. M. Whetter at forward and N. A. at center playing good ball. The Morrai guards were unable to stop Blagg. Pickaway forward, who scored eight field goals.

Waldo gave Grandview plenty of action but lost the opening round game 18 to 15. Grandview 11 to 3 at the half then scored a third quarter rally which won within two points of evening the score but could not catch the Grandview club in the final period. It was for the most part a defensive game no player sinking more than two field goals. Robert at guard and Brown at forward each accounted for five of Waldo's 15 points.

Marengo, leading in the Morrow county tournament, won its first round game with Plain City, 31 to 22, but lost to Grandview in the second round Saturday night, 18 to 16. The Marengo club held a lead during the first half 7 to 4 and a one-point advantage at the third quarter but in the last two minutes Grandview tied the score at 16 and then dropped in the winning field goal with only seconds to go. Marengo's offense failed to function against the Orange guards.

Columbus, Morrow county champions, did not play in the first round as it drew a bye. Opening the second round at five o'clock Saturday they lost to London 19 to 13. The game was fast and hard fought from the start with Salisbury, Cardington forward, starring for the losers.

Eight Teams Left

Eight teams, London, Monroe, Toledo, Grandview, Orange, Marysville, Ostrander and Lancaster, St. Marys, will return to the Ostrander gym Friday night for the quarter finals and the four survivors of this round will play off the semi-finals Saturday afternoon and the finals Saturday night. # MERCURY DROP BOOSTS GRAINS

Cold Wave Sends Prices at Chicago in Early Uprward Trend.

By The Associated Press. CHICAGO, March 7.—Abnormally low temperatures throughout the entire domestic grain belt gave an early upward trend to wheat prices today. Liverpool reported wheat demand improving. Opening 1/4 higher, Chicago wheat futures continued up.

Corn started unchanged to 1/4 advance and subsequently rose all around.

Severe cold was construed as bullish regarding wheat, especially on account of coming after recent warm weather and heavy rains with the crop not having any real protection of importance. Reports at hand said no relief from the cold was in sight, with zero temperatures prevalent from Kansas to Ohio, and indications pointing to crop damage.

Much of the foreign news tended to favor holders of wheat. Berlin dispatches said considerable imports of wheat to Germany would be necessary between now and the new harvest, and Buenos Aires official estimates placed the Argentine wheat yield this season at 173,137 tons less than last season. On the other hand, the amount of wheat on ocean passage showed a material increase both as compared with a year ago. Corn and oats sympathized with wheat strength.

Money was a little firmer at the start of the week, with no outside call money offered under the official rate of 2 1/2 per cent. The $900,000,000 in the new treasury financing in the form of short term certificates, however, was interpreted as indicating a belief that credit would continue to improve, resulting in better conditions for a bond issue later.

CHIC STAR PATTERNS

—Practical and Simple—

Dainty Party Frocks.

PATTERN 2285

Step-by-Step Instruction Diagrams Given with This Pattern.

Here is a perfect party frock, very dainty and not too fussy. It may be made of crepe de chine, organdy, Swiss voile or batiste. The graceful collar and front panel are cut in one; the peplum, which may be omitted if you wish, adds a youthful, chic note. A ribbon belt is tied in a pert bow in front. White or a pastel will be lovely, the ribbon of contrasting color.

Pattern 2285 may be ordered only in sizes 8, 10, 12, 14, 16. Size 12 requires 3 yards of 36 inch fabric, 1 1/2 yards of ribbon.

Fair Board Slashes Race Premiums for 1932 Meet

Forty Per Cent Reduction Made in Allowance for Speed Program at Exposition This Year; Figure Cut to $2,100.

The county fair board practically completed its program of retrenchment for the 1932 exposition by lowering 40 per cent off the race purses. A reduction of all purses and the elimination of one race accomplished the reduction. The action was taken at a board meeting here Saturday.

The board several weeks ago announced its intention of reducing fair costs approximately one third this year. Previous steps toward this reduction have included a heavy slash in the premiums for all exhibits, as well as increases in the entry fees.

Purses to Total $2,100
Race purses during the 1931 fair amounted to approximately $3,500, C. G. Ritzler, secretary, said. This figure has been reduced to $2,100 by the board's action Saturday. Purses of $300 in 1931 have been reduced to $250 for this year. The 2-12 pace has been eliminated.

There will be nine races during the 1932 fair, three races during each of three afternoons of the fair. In view of two short ship race meets at night scheduled for this year, the board decided in favor of daylight racing for the fair.

In place of a rodeo or any other costly attraction, the board will sponsor a tug-of-war contest. Teams will be organized in each township and in the city to compete for prizes aggregating $300. Each team entered will be given $10, and an opportunity to win first prize of $50.

Tug-of-War Billed
The tug-of-war feature and the restriction of premium money to Marion county are calculated by the board to develop more interest in the fair in this county, making it more of a community affair than in previous years. Marion county exhibitors have been discouraged in recent years by outside exhibits of prize stock brought to the county fair each year, fair officials explained.
